PROFESSIONAL SUMMARY

I am a business development and strategic leadership professional with executive experience as the Chief Executive Officer of Leacon International from November 2024 to December 2025. During my tenure, I focused on driving organizational growth, expanding global service portfolios, and building scalable business strategies that strengthened the company's international presence.

My expertise includes aligning sales, marketing, and operational functions to improve performance, enhance customer experience, and ensure sustainable business growth. I have also led brand positioning and digital communication initiatives, including high-impact video campaigns and strategic content development that helped establish the organization as a recognized voice in the industry.

I have extensive experience in stakeholder and partnership management, successfully building strong relationships with international institutions, business partners, and clients. Known for a data-driven and strategic approach, I specialize in analyzing market trends and transforming complex business insights into practical growth opportunities and actionable decisions.

Alongside my executive experience, I have a background in strategic leadership, business development, and education management, with a strong interest in innovation, organizational transformation, and global business expansion.
