About Me

I switched my career from healthcare to Digital Marketing because I enjoy creativity and technical problem solving. After graduating from Anaesthesia Technology, I noticed that I was confused in the medical area, guiding me to look for new alternates. To get exposure to other industries, I began my career in a customer service position in the BPO and BGV sector, where I was introduced to the IT world.

As I gained experience, I explored various career paths and discovered that digital marketing matched both my interests and skill set. Motivated by this realisation, I decided to continue upskilling myself in this field, believing that my strategic thinking and creative approach would help me succeed in Digital Marketing.
