Summary

I'm a software engineer turned marketer who blends technical depth with creative strategy to help businesses grow and operate smarter.

My work centers on building scalable funnels, running targeted Meta and Google campaigns, refining SEO, and improving workflows through automation.

I still code using AI - building custom apps for marketing, automation, content generation, hook and script generators, AI ad generators, and whatever else improves performance.

I specialize in doing product research / positioning, running targeted Meta and Google ad campaigns, optimizing SEO strategies, and building automations and improving workflows.

Whether it's crafting high-performing ads, positioning, or streamlining systems, I focus on clarity, efficiency, and repeatability.

I'm also a perfectionist, for better or worse, and it drives me to deliver work that's polished and reliable.
