INTERESTS

- Content Creator & Vlogger: I run my own YouTube channel where I share content I truly enjoy—whether it's dancing, singing, or creating lighthearted, engaging videos. I also collaborate with people who inspire me, bringing authentic and meaningful content to life. If you're into feel-good, creative content, don't forget to subscribe!
- Blogging: I love getting creative with various projects and ideas. Blogging allows me to roger that. I love exploring, thinking and creating new content that triggers people so that they have the drive to write as well. Blogging isn't just about writing, it also entails many other roles which help me to develop skills that I can employ in my career as well. My blog allows me to merge my love for writing about everything I'm passionate about.
- Dancing: Dancing is deep, intensely personal also communal and joyful to be around others also working it out, using their body as a vehicle of expression. Dancing helps me in rejuvenating my inner soul and awakens me on a whole.
- Singing: I love singing because it lifts my spirit. It makes me happy and alive. Nothing picks up my mood and shifts my perspective better than a soothing song. I'm part of a lineage of human voices sharing their stories of struggle and triumphs through music.
- Acting: Acting has been my main pull off and I started of with drama and short skits. I love how as an actor I'm able to embody different personalities and interpret them in my own way. I feel this allows me to be more understanding and empathic to the people I come across my daily life.
- Poetry: Maybe the perks of being a literature student or the love for so many untold tales, I think poetry has got intense scales.
